

This holiday season, give a gift that helps “raise respect”

Surrounded by her classmates, Jennifer* talked about getting hurtful emails from another student. Martin* spoke about being called a “wuss” for not drinking with his underage buddies. Tracy* wondered if it was okay for her boyfriend to tell her what to wear and who to hang out with, after all, he said he loved her.

*pseudonyms

Having worked with survivors of abuse and violence for more than 20 years, Family Transition Place has honed an insight into the behaviours and attitudes that lead to unhealthy, hurtful relationships.

Now, through our Violence Prevention Program, we’re sharing these insights to help youth, men and women develop the skills they need to build friendships, families and marriages on a foundation of respect and non-violence.

Violence is a problem.
Our community wants action.
Our programs make a difference.

Our violence prevention efforts are funded 100% by fundraised dollars. What we can do is limited by our resources. Your gift will help us:

- reach more people, more often
- challenge the attitudes that allow violence to be tolerated
- help people develop the skills they need to have a happy, healthy future free of violence.

You can help this holiday season.
Support the Raise Respect Campaign.

Donate online:
www.familytransitionplace.ca/support.html

Donate by calling:
905-584-4357 or 519-942-4122 ext 240

We’re working to make respect the norm, not the exception, in our homes, schools and community.

RAISE RESPECT | family
campaign | transition
eliminate violence | place

Serving Caledon & Dufferin

Supported by Eanner

3,900 Grade 5 to 12 students

took part in Family Transition Place’s Violence Prevention Programs last year, discovering the skills they need to build healthy, respectful relationships!